OVERVIEW

The 2018-19 State Budget Plan

Five months after being proposed by the Governor, and just one month after the Governor's updated May Revision, the final version of the Budget Act of 2018 is now before the Legislature. This budget package is balanced, with record state budget reserves.

The budget plan reflects the shared priorities of the Assembly, the Senate, and the Governor—easing the homelessness crisis, lifting families out of poverty, record funding for schools, more funding for child care, keeping college affordable for California students, and providing a pathway toward healthcare for all.

No single budget can capture all the opportunities California has, or meet all the challenges we face — but the smart and sensible choices in this budget absolutely move California closer to where we want and need to be.

Our work to improve California is far from finished. This budget keeps California—the world's fifth-largest economy—moving forward.

^a Reflects gross revenues and transfers before budgeted reserve deposits of $4.4 billion. Net of these reserve deposits, revenues and transfers alternatively may be displayed as $133.3 billion.

^b Reflects various non-recurring costs: $630 million transfer to State Project Infrastructure Fund (designated, along with over $100 million of unused prior state building funds, for the Capitol Annex project), over $500 million of homelessness funding, $300 million deferred maintenance, $280 million local mandate payments, $134 million of local voting machine grants, $100 million for Indian Heritage Center, $100 million for child care facility grants, $90 million of Census outreach funding, and over $800 million of other one-time state investments. One-time costs shown here generally exclude UC and CSU systemwide funding and HHS administration/benefit costs.

^c Includes estimated deposits to build this Proposition 2 rainy day fund's balance to constitutional maximum. The optional portion of this deposit—$2.6 billion—will be held in the new Budget Deficit Savings Account until after May 31, 2019.

This budget fills the Proposition 2 rainy day fund—the brainchild of Assembly Democrats—years ahead of schedule. Total reserves will be the largest in any enacted budget in modern California history. By the end of 2018-19, the rainy day fund will climb to an estimated $13.8 billion: its constitutional maximum level. Along with a $2 billion estimated year-end balance in the state's traditional reserve (the Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties) and a $200 million balance in a new reserve to protect safety net programs (CalWORKs and Medi-Cal) in future downturns, total reserves under the budget plan exceed $15.9 billion. These reserves equal 12% of net General Fund revenues and transfers and are larger than the entire state general fund in 33 of the 50 U.S. states. Furthermore, estimates in the budget plan are based on the cautious revenue projections prepared by the Department of Finance.

But, that's not all. This year's state budget plan looks ahead: what comes next after filling California's rainy day fund? Leaders in the Assembly began planning this spring for how to build more state reserves to better prepare for the next economic downturn. This budget adopts the Assembly's proposed new state savings account: the Budget Deficit Savings Account (BDSA). The BDSA will temporarily hold the $2.6 billion optional portion of the 2018-19 rainy day fund deposit until after May 31, 2019, and it will be available as an additional budget reserve in future years.. The budget also adopts the Senate's plan for the new Safety Net Reserve described above. California is prudently preparing for the next economic downturn.

Investing in the Future

The budget plan increases K-14 education spending, as required by the Constitution, as well as spending for higher education, health and human services, and other programs. It includes many one-time expenditures facilitated by the robust state revenues of recent months. These are described throughout this document.

Ten significant categories of investments in the budget plan are:

1. K-14 Education. The budget plan provides record funding for schools and community colleges and fully funds the Local Control Funding Formula. Proposition 98 funding climbs to $11,639 per K-12 student—up more than $1,000 per student since 2016-17.

The budget reflects a Conference Committee compromise on the Governor's proposed new community college funding formula. The compromise includes a three-year phase in that begins by providing 70% enrollment-based funding, 20% funding based on the enrollment of low-income students, and 10% funding based on performance outcomes. Over a three-year period, the formula shifts to 60% enrollment, 20% low-income students, and 20% based on performance outcomes. Colleges are guaranteed at least a cost-of-living increase for three years.

The plan includes $100 million one-time and $20 million ongoing Proposition 98 funding to create a new online community college to be administered by the Board of Governors. This college will develop courses and programs that lead to short-term credentials and certifications with labor market value. In addition, $35 million of one-time Proposition 98 funding goes to competitive grants to community college districts to develop their online programs.

2. Higher Education. The budget provides significant funding increases for the state's university systems—well above the levels proposed by the Governor in January, as supported by many Assemblymembers in both parties.

For the University of California, the compromise plan includes the Governor's proposed $92 million ongoing General Fund increase, as well as additional increases of $177 million one-time General Fund and $5 million ongoing from the General Fund. In combination with actions from the 2017 budget, UC will increase California enrollment by 2,000 students in the 2018-19 academic year. For CSU, the budget includes the Governor's proposed $92 million ongoing General Fund increase, as well as additional increases of $105 million from the General Fund, plus another $167 million of one-time General Fund resources. The one-time CSU funding includes $120 million to support a cohort of 3,641 new students at about $30 million per year over the next four years.

3. Early Childhood. The budget invests in child care, a continuing priority of the Assembly. The budget plan adds a total of $1 billion federal and state funds over four years for an added 13,400 child care and 2,947 preschool slots, increased rates for providers, and new quality investments.
4. Homelessness. The budget plan includes more than $500 million to address the homelessness crisis, principally to help local governments deal with the emergency situation they now face. In addition, California voters will consider whether to approve bonds for more affordable housing development this November. Moreover, funds from last year's housing package are coming on line, providing additional funding for housing.
5. Toward Ending Deep Poverty for Children. Deep poverty is considered to be below 50% of the federal poverty level. Under this budget, California starts to move in the direction of ending deep poverty among children. The budget provides $90 million beginning April 1, 2019 and $360 million ongoing as the first of three contemplated steps to increase CalWORKs grants so that, one day, no child in the state will live in deep poverty. Further steps will require additional budget funding.

6. Earned Income Tax Credit. The budget adopts the Governor's proposal to expand California's successful Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) for working Californians. Specifically, the budget expands the state EITC to working individuals aged 18 to 24, and those over the age of 65. In addition, the qualifying income range for the credit is expanded so that employees working up to full time at the 2019 minimum wage of $12 per hour qualify. These changes should benefit over 700,000 households. In addition, the budget provides $10 million for EITC outreach and tax preparation services.
7. Food Security for SSI Recipients. The budget ends the more than 40-year-old ban on California SSI recipients—low-income aged, blind, and disabled persons—accessing CalFresh food benefits. Under the budget compromise agreement, $200 million is set aside to hold SSI/SSP recipients harmless, with an intent by the Legislature to continue funding this “hold harmless” benefit thereafter.
8. Sustainable Funding for Fish and Wildlife. The budget adopts a three-year funding plan to move the Department of Fish and Wildlife to a more sustainable funding basis. The budget includes about $30 million for this purpose on a three-year limited-term basis, including $5 million from the Tire Fund.
9. Reentry and Diversion Programs. The budget adopts both Assembly and Senate proposals that create new diversion, reentry, and wraparound service programs for specified youth and adult populations.
10. Infrastructure. The budget continues to implement last year's Senate Bill 1, which will invest $54 billion over the next decade to fix roads and bridges and put more dollars toward transit and safety. Funding totaling $23.5 million is set aside for legislative consideration later this session related to safe drinking water issues, including those in low-income communities around the state.

The budget also programs future Proposition 2 infrastructure funds—which may total $1 billion per year after the rainy day fund is filled (beginning in 2019-20)—for state buildings and their deferred maintenance, housing, and rail projects. Among the state buildings addressed in the budget package is the State Capitol Annex, which is to be funded from one-time State Project Infrastructure Funds included in this year's budget, plus unused state building dollars from prior years. A new state office building near the Capitol, financed with lease-revenue bonds, will house the Legislature temporarily during annex construction and be a permanent state office building thereafter.

Health Care Coverage and Affordability

The Affordable Care Act has reduced the number of uninsured Californians from 7 million to 3 million (now 7% of the non-elderly population). In May, both the Assembly and the Senate finalized budget proposals to significantly expand health care coverage. Moreover, the Assembly's $1 billion per year health care package proposed premium assistance for certain low-income and middle-income enrollees in Covered California.

In June budget negotiations, however, the Legislature and the Governor did not reach an agreement for new investments in health care coverage and affordability. Nevertheless, the Assembly remains committed to expanding health care coverage to all Californians. Toward that end, building on the work of the Assembly Select Committee on Health Care Delivery Systems and Universal Coverage, this budget establishes: (1) a council to develop a plan that moves California toward health care for all and (2) a database to improve transparency concerning health care costs.

Proposition 56 Funds. In May, following the May Revision, the Governor proposed rate supplements for Medi-Cal providers, funded by Proposition 56 tobacco taxes. To facilitate further legislative review of the proposal, $1 billion of Proposition 56 funding is set aside until after June 15, when appropriations of this funding will be considered.
