OVERVIEW

Serving California: Preparing for the Future

The Assembly's 2023 Budget Plan

This plan presents 2023 budget priorities of the Assembly's budget subcommittees. The plan results from months of Budget Committee and subcommittee hearings, led by Assemblymember Phil Ting (D-San Francisco), Budget Committee Chair, and the chairs of the subcommittees: Assemblymembers Joaquin Arambula (D-Fresno), Steve Bennett (D-Ventura), Mia Bonta (D-Oakland), Wendy Carrillo (D-Los Angeles), and Kevin McCarty (D-Sacramento).

Working with Governor Newsom, the Assembly and Senate will unite in the coming days on a progressive state budget to serve all Californians. The budget must prepare California for uncertain economic times ahead.

Fueled by federal investment that boosted the economy, 2021-22 was the strongest tax revenue year in state history. 2022-23 is on tap to be the second strongest. State revenues are well above pre-pandemic levels.

Major General Fund Tax Revenues
May Revision Forecast (In Billions)

Last year's state budget anticipated that tax revenues would drop in the current fiscal year (2022-23), but state revenues have declined more than expected for several reasons, such as: declines in the stock market, the collapse of the market for initial public offerings (IPOs), the Federal Reserve's fight against inflation, credit conditions related to financial challenges for some regional banks, and perhaps uncertainty caused by congressional brinkmanship with the "debt ceiling."

2022-23 budget surpluses are smaller than originally projected in the June 2022 budget package, but remain substantial. The General Fund's major tax revenues for 2022-23 in the recent May Revision estimates ($202 billion, as shown in the figure above) are $12 billion lower than the amounts assumed in the June 2022 budget package. For 2023-24, the General Fund's major tax revenues are projected to be $198 billion in the May Revision, or $27 billion less than assumed in multiyear estimates accompanying the June 2022 state budget.

As a result of those trends, adjustments in budgeted and planned one-time spending are required. Those adjustments have been discussed for months, including in the December 2022 Assembly Budget Chair's annual "Blueprint," entitled Serving California: Making Government Work.

The Past Decade: Assembly Budget Leadership

The Assembly continues to set the direction for California's state budget, just as it has for over a decade.

Majority Control of the Budget. In 2010, voters approved Proposition 25 to give control of the state budget to the majority in the Legislature. Since then, on-time, balanced budgets have become the norm.

Rainy Day Fund. In 2013, Speaker John Pérez proposed a new rainy day fund to set aside capital gains and other revenues during peak state budget years to help preserve core programs during budget downturns. In November 2014, 69% of voters approved creating the rainy day fund. Since then, California's budget reserves and cash balances—once minuscule—have grown to be the largest of any U.S. state in history.

Improving Health Care. In 2018, the Assembly budget plan proposed increasing subsidies for Covered California plans and expanding Medi-Cal step by step to individuals regardless of immigration status. Within a few years, with the partnership of Governor Newsom, Senate President Pro Tem Toni Atkins, and her colleagues, the core components of the 2018 Assembly plan have become law, including the 2022 budget agreement to expand Medi-Cal eligibility to all regardless of immigration status.

Improving Child Care. In 2019, the Assembly's Blue Ribbon Commission on Early Childhood Education—initiated by Speaker Anthony Rendon—discussed the need to invest in California's child care workforce. Governor Newsom's 2020 Master Plan for Early Learning and Care cited the commission's report in describing ambitious goals to fully fund the real cost of child care. The Assembly continues to prioritize a stronger care system.

Improving Transit. In 2022, the Assembly pushed for substantial new infrastructure funding, including billions to improve capital assets of California's transit agencies: the vanguard of the state's fight to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Following more than two years of negotiation, the Assembly agreed with Governor Newsom on a multiyear transportation package to invest in local transit and active transportation projects.

December 2022 Budget Blueprint. In December 2022, Budget Chair Phil Ting released his annual Budget Blueprint. The Blueprint anticipated this year's state revenue declines, focusing on the need to protect key programs expanded in recent years and make government work better. The Blueprint proposed delayed disbursements of one-time grants, focused use of the state's large cash balances, strategic deployment of new federal infrastructure dollars to help steady the General Fund budget, and strong funding for California's classrooms.

Major Features of the 2023 Assembly Budget Plan

Includes Transit Capital Funding Negotiated Last Year. While the Governor's May Revision continued to reject $1 billion of planned transit capital funding and $200 million, net, of planned active transportation program funding in 2023-24, the Assembly plan restores this previously negotiated funding plan. The plan envisions that a portion of this capital funding could be "flexed" to assist operations of financially distressed local transit agencies, with strong accountability measures to ensure that these additional state operating subsidies are limited and temporary in nature.

Care COLA to Stabilize Child Care and Help Parents. The Assembly plan includes a Care COLA, increasing child care funding by 25% to reflect unfunded inflation since 2016. Such rate increases are necessary to stabilize the child care sector and help parents struggling to find providers. The 2021-22 budget included historic goals to serve 200,000 more children in state-supported child care programs and meet the Governor's Master Plan goal to fully fund the real cost of care. Due in part to inflation, more than one third of the state's child care expansion is still not serving families. The Assembly wants higher per-child funding rates now, consistent with the intent of prior budget agreements.

Protecting Education Funding. Relying on the local property tax projections of the Legislative Analyst's Office (LAO), the Assembly plan provides more support for schools than the Governor's May Revision, including a total Proposition 98 funding level of $108.3 billion in 2023-24. This includes a $3.4 billion increase in Proposition 98 funding for the Local Control Funding Formula (LCFF), which reflects costs of universal transitional kindergarten and an 8.22% cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) in 2023-24. A $4.3 billion withdrawal from the Proposition 98 reserve is authorized if fiscal conditions later warrant it in order to protect the LCFF and statutory COLA increases.

In higher education, the Assembly plan includes the Governor's proposed funding increases for the university systems and community colleges, additional funds for student housing and student basic needs at all three segments, and significant enrollment increases at both UC and CSU, including the continuation of a five-year plan to replace nonresident students with Californians at UC Berkeley, UC San Diego, and UCLA.

Investments in Housing and Homelessness Prevention. The Governor prioritized maintaining planned spending on homelessness programs, as does the Assembly. The Assembly plan also includes an additional $150 million to support the Multifamily Housing Program, $50 million of restorations for grants to support building accessory dwelling units (ADUs), and $1 billion in 2024-25 for an additional year of planned funding of the key local homelessness grant program, the Homeless Housing, Assistance and Prevention Program (HHAPP). The Assembly plan restores planned funding for the new California Dream for All Program championed by Senator Atkins to assist first-time homebuyers.

Climate, Resources, and Energy Programs. The Governor maintained most of the state's planned multiyear expenditures for climate, resources, and energy projects, while reducing and delaying some projects, especially programs that were Assembly priorities. The Assembly plan aims to restore some of these priorities, while proposing offsetting reductions in other programs funded by the Governor in his budget proposals. A possible resources/climate/water bond for the 2024 ballot will be considered later in the legislative process. Any projects not funded in the budget would be eligible for other funding sources later, such as a resources bond.

Managed Care Organization (MCO) Funding Mechanism. The Assembly budget plan assumes the General Fund offset (reduced General Fund costs) from the Governor's MCO proposal—nearly $3.4 billion for the 2023-24 budget window. Exact details of provider rate increases and other features of the package remain subject to discussion. Approval of an MCO trailer bill is anticipated during the month of June. MCO trailer bills have been approved over the last decade, generally with the support or neutrality of key industry participants. Support for the MCO funding mechanism has been strong, as it helps draw down substantial federal funding while imposing a relatively small tax burden on the health insurance industry.

Boosting Covered California Plan Subsidies. Unlike the Governor's budget plan, the Assembly plan restores funds from the individual coverage mandate penalty for use to reduce lower and middle-income Californians' health plan costs in Covered California. On an ongoing basis this provides over $300 million per year for this purpose, starting in January 2024.

Reimagining CalWORKs. The Assembly continues to prioritize transformation of one of the state's key social services programs, CalWORKs, to make it more family centered and improve participant outcomes. The Assembly plan eliminates non-federally required sanctions in the program and reduces other sanctions. It repeals and modifies CalWORKs statutes, including the deprivation rule that penalizes two-parent working families. It also replaces the county penalty pass-through with new accountability metrics.

Planning for the Future of State Prisons. The Assembly plan includes placeholder trailer bill language requiring the administration to announce five additional prisons for closure between now and 2027. This change is needed given the growing number of unused prison beds, currently estimated at 20,000 even after already announced closures. The Assembly plan will leave the prison system with several thousand unused beds—in excess of the "cushion" previously maintained to deal with unexpected prison population changes.

Adjustments to Last Year's Agreement on Future Trigger Increases. Last year's budget included provisions to "trigger on" several ongoing program expansions in 2024 if estimated revenues at that time were sufficient to fund them. The LAO's October 2022 summary of this package is displayed below (although cost estimates have changed since).

Augmentations for 2024-25 Prioritized by Trigger-On Language (In Millions)
Augmentation	Amount^a
CalWORKs maximum aid payment increase	TBD ^b
Tax credit to offset costs of union membership	$400
Cal Grant reform	365
Full pass-through of child support payments to CalWORKs families	TBD ^c
Victim compensation eligibility, benefits, and administration	50
Align income levels for maintenance with income limits in Medi-Cal	33 ^d
Eliminate restitution fines	25
Continuous Medi-Cal eligibility for children ages 0 to 4	20
Cal Grant CCC Expanded Entitlement award portability to nonprofit schools	10

^a Estimated cost in 2024-25. For some items, reflects a partial-year cost.

^b Trigger language does not specify an amount for the increase, could range from low hundreds of millions of dollars to more than $1 billion.

^c Trigger language does not specify an amount for the full pass-through. The administration has estimated costs of roughly $150 million, but actual costs will depend on collections and caseload at the time of implementation.

^d Increases to $80.2 million in 2025-26 and ongoing.

TBD = to be determined.

The programs listed above represent longtime legislative priorities. The Assembly believes that preparations for the program expansions in the state budget should continue. Because the ability to trigger on these expenditures in 2024 is quite uncertain, the Assembly plan amends last year's provisions to trigger on these program expansions in 2024, 2025, 2026, or 2027 if sufficient funds are available. This language would still allow legislative action to turn on one or more of the expansions earlier, if deemed to be a priority by the Legislature.

Preliminary Budget Estimates

(Per legislative custom and practice, official scoring of the Assembly plan by the Department of Finance will be completed after Assembly Budget Committee action. Therefore, officially scored spending and reserves may differ from those described below.)

The Assembly plan retains significant cushions of fiscal resiliency, given the substantial uncertainty about state revenues in the coming months.

Based on May Revision General Fund Estimates. The 2023 Assembly budget plan protects core ongoing state-funded programs and many planned one-time investments, while using the Department of Finance’s reduced May Revision revenue estimates.

More Reserves Than Proposed by Governor. The Assembly plan maintains 2023-24 reserves in excess of the Governor’s proposed level of $37.2 billion. Specifically, preliminary scoring of the Assembly plan anticipates reserves of about $38.0 billion, as follows:

- Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties (discretionary reserve): $3.2 billion
- Safety Net Reserve (discretionary reserve): $0.9 billion
- Budget Deficit Savings Account (discretionary reserve): $0.8 billion
- Public School System Stabilization Account (Proposition 98 reserve): $10.8 billion
- Budget Stabilization Account (constitutional rainy day fund): $22.3 billion

Preliminary: General Fund Spending Below Governor for 2023-24 Budget. The Governor proposes $217.1 million of adjusted General Fund spending in 2021-22, $236.5 million of adjusted General Fund spending in 2022-23, and $224.1 million of General Fund spending in 2023-24. Preliminary scoring shows the Assembly’s plan spends somewhat less from the General Fund than the Governor proposes for the 2021-22, 2022-23, and 2023-24 fiscal years combined (the period known as the 2023-24 “budget window”).

For the budget window, the preliminary scoring indicates the Assembly plan spends over $500 million dollars less from the General Fund than proposed by the Governor. Estimated spending for each fiscal year can be calculated precisely only by the Department of Finance’s upcoming official scoring process. For 2023-24, total General Fund, special funds, and bond fund spending proposed by the Governor was $306.5 billion, and preliminary scoring suggests the Assembly plan spends somewhat less.

Preparing for Additional Revenue Declines

Lower Revenues Quite Possible for the 2023-24 Budget Window. The Assembly budget plan acknowledges the lower revenue estimates of the LAO released on May 13 and the LAO’s multiyear forecast released on May 23. The LAO anticipates $11 billion less in revenues during the 2023-24 budget window, which would reduce the Proposition 98 guarantee and result in a $6 billion larger budget problem for 2023-24.

Protecting Core, Ongoing Programs Is Our Priority. In the event lower revenues materialize, the Assembly’s primary goal will be to maintain core, ongoing programs that serve California students, residents, families, and communities, including public employees who are paid for their service in public safety, firefighting, school, and other programs.

Plans If a Bigger Budget Problem Emerges. If a bigger budget problem materializes in the coming months, the Assembly plan anticipates future budget actions as follows:

- Shifting more budgeted or planned General Fund spending to the state’s special funds, federal funds, and other funds to the extent possible.
- Reducing or delaying more budgeted or planned one-time spending.
- Drawing down discretionary budget reserves.
- Drawing down constitutional reserves, including part of the Budget Stabilization Account balance, subject to a gubernatorial declaration of a Proposition 2 budget emergency.

The Assembly’s Proposition 98 budget plan also prepares for possible lower revenues within the next year, as described elsewhere in this document.

Future Years’ Budget Challenges. The rainy day fund measure championed by the Assembly in 2013 and 2014 promoted the use of multiyear forecasts during the annual state budget process. The administration’s May Revision estimates and the LAO’s multiyear estimates show significant budget problems are likely to recur in 2024 and perhaps in later years. In that event, protecting core programs will require additional, corrective budget actions like the ones described in the bullets above, including use of the rainy day fund.

General tax increases, such as the business tax measures recently proposed by the Senate’s leadership, can be considered to address future years’ budget problems. The Governor, however, has stated his clear opposition to such a tax increase, as have many Assemblymembers. The Assembly budget plan, therefore, is balanced in 2023-24 without a general state tax increase.

Monitoring October Tax Receipts. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) responded to California’s winter storms by giving virtually all Californians the ability to delay making quarterly and annual income tax payments for nine months from January to October 2023. (Deadlines for personal income tax withholding—paid by working Californians from their paychecks—generally are unaffected by this IRS action.)

State tax data indicates that many—perhaps most—high income Californians and some big businesses have delayed making income tax payments to the Franchise Tax Board, presumably until October 2023. This means that the May Revision and the LAO forecasts lack key information about taxpayers’ 2022 and early 2023 tax liabilities, which ordinarily would have been paid last month. At the federal level, the corresponding delay in high-income Californians’ payments to the IRS is hastening the “X date” when the federal debt ceiling may be breached.

The May Revision anticipates that $29 billion of state personal income tax receipts and $13 billion of corporation tax receipts will be delayed from January through October. Fortunately, the state’s large cash balances—now exceeding $100 billion—currently allow California to accommodate this delay with almost no negative consequences. The state treasury’s large balances mean that, if October receipts are well below projections, corrective budget action can wait until after lawmakers reconvene in early 2024, allowing thoughtful consideration by the Legislature and the Governor in the meantime.

Openness to Additional Resiliency Measures. In budget negotiations with the Senate and the Governor, the Assembly is open to additional budget resiliency measures, including pausing disbursement of a few billion dollars of budgeted one-time spending included in the final 2023-24 budget agreement until early 2024. Priority one-time funding items, including, but not limited to, transit capital and homelessness prevention funds, could be excluded from such a pause in the final budget agreement.

Streamlining Infrastructure

The December 2022 Budget Blueprint by Budget Chair Phil Ting mentioned the importance of expediting “shovels in the ground” for the billions of dollars of infrastructure projects funded by the state and federal governments in recent years. The Assembly shares the Governor’s goals to speed infrastructure development responsibly.

As the Governor released his streamlining trailer bill proposals a week after the May Revision—after most budget subcommittees had already finished hearings on 2023 budget proposals—the Budget Committee will not be able to consider public testimony on the streamlining proposals in the coming days. Budget Committee time and resources must be focused on landing a balanced, on-time budget between now and late June.

The public process on the Governor’s infrastructure proposals is very important. Hearings by a different Assembly committee or committees are expected on the proposals. These hearings will be announced in the Assembly Daily File.
